WHAT IS A HOUSE CONCERT?

Hosting a House Concert is much easier than you think!

If you want to host a house concert, all you have to do is find a date that works for you & the musicians (us), and invite friends, family, & neighbors to come over on that date. Its best to send out invitations (or email invitations) well in advance so that people can put the date in their calendars.

Ask your guests to bring something to eat and/or drink and $20 per person for the music (20 person minimum). So you, as the host, really just have to open your door and collect the money for the music as people arrive. The guests provide the food & drinks and we provide the live entertainment for the evening. We'll also have CD's for sale at the concert.

Occasionally, a host feels awkward asking guests to pay a music fee. If this is the case, you can arrange to pay the musicians a flat fee when booking the date and not have to collect a music charge from your guests as they arrive.

If you want, we can arrive early to help you decide where in your house we should play.

House Concerts are one of our favorite ways to perform.

Sometimes, hosts will even invite the musicians to stay over that night, but this is only if you have the room and if it feels comfortable for you.

We look forward to hearing from you (and playing at your house!).
